

Best Conservation Project

Highly Commended - India Buildings by Falconer Chester Hall

The conservation work at India Buildings has been completed with extreme sympathy. The quality of the work is very high and shows great respect for the ethos of the original architects, while interventions are completed in a contemporary language wherever possible and defer to the grandeur of the original building, thus providing the means for 21st century operation.